

University of Life Sciences
"King Mihai I" from Timișoara

INVITATION

We are pleased to invite you to participate in the International Scientific Symposium dedicated to students, master's students, PhD candidates, and young researchers – "Young people and multidisciplinary research in applied life sciences", organized by the University of Life Sciences "King Michael I" of Timișoara, which will take place on 13–14 November 2025.

This edition is held under the auspices of the 80th anniversary of the University of Life Sciences "King Michael I" of Timișoara and represents a landmark event dedicated to promoting excellence in research, innovation, and education.

The symposium aims to provide an interdisciplinary scientific framework for the presentation of research results, the exchange of ideas, and the development of collaborations among young researchers in life sciences and related fields. Participants – students, master's students, PhD candidates, and young researchers – will have the opportunity to interact with specialists from academia and the socio-economic sector in a context that encourages dialogue, creativity, and an innovative spirit.

We warmly welcome you to join us on 13–14 November 2025, at the University of Life Sciences "King Michael I" of Timișoara, to celebrate together the enthusiasm of the young generation of researchers and to honor our institution's eight decades of academic tradition.

With the highest consideration,

Rector,
Prof.PhD. Cosmin Alin Popescu

Vice-Rector for Research,
Innovation and Technology Transfer
Prof.PhD. Kalman IMRE
